As Editorial Designer I placed and formatted stories in the Opinion section. I would also produce illustrations to accompany these stories, as well as other stories and section fronts throughout the paper.

As Editorial Design Manager, I assisted the Art Director in checking over each section of the paper before it went to print, and helped manage ten other designers.

As Art Director, I coordinated with editors and the business department to discuss the contents of the paper. After collaborating with the designers to develop the ideas for their sections, I would check over the sections for design and style consistency, then prepare the page files for press.
